MEMORANDUM FOR THE RECORD

SUBJECT: Synopsis of Interview with [REDACTED], Special Agent FBN, San Francisco

1. [REDACTED] was stationed in San Francisco from 1956 to 1960. He knows of and visited all three safehouses. He used the Chestnut Street safehouse for FBN narcotic cases and attended parties there. He knew of the "back room" at Chestnut St. and had done technical work there [REDACTED] was formerly a CIA audio surveillance specialist). He does not remember a two way mirror. If one had been there and useful he believes he would have remembered it. He described the "pad" as, an arty place which appeared to have been lifted out of Greenwich Village.

2. When he first heard of the drug allegations he did not believe them. He is still skeptical of the allegations. He does not believe White was inclined to the use of drugs but thinks Feldman might have been. He knows of no use of the safehouses by prostitutes.

3. The diary extract was reviewed and most of [REDACTED] comments are included in the annotated version. Referring to particular entries, he indicated:

[REDACTED] which he indicates is a phonetic spelling of the last name. She was a low level madam who hustled on Kearney and Clay. [REDACTED] knows her well and would be a good source for more information. [REDACTED] is probably [REDACTED], a prostitute. The references to Ray's may refer to the operator or bartender at [REDACTED] - he believes his name was Ray.

[REDACTED]
[REDACTED]
[REDACTED]
[REDACTED]

[REDACTED], an attorney friend of White with an unsavory reputation.

* Investigation since this interview reveals the correct spelling of her name to be [REDACTED]. It is reported that she and former [REDACTED] have since married and are residing in Florida.

[REDACTED]

The Plantation Inn was often used by the FBN for covert meetings long before a specific room was rented as a CIA financed safesite. Investigators were [REDACTED] (CIA) and [REDACTED] (DEA).
